

Q72. Which of the following is a characteristic of the QR code?

- a) Characters except in binary form can be expressed by the code.
- b) It can contain up to 128 alphanumeric characters or up to 64 double-byte characters.
- c) It is a programming language and is executable on the cell phone.
- d) Using three symbols for detection, the code makes it possible to recognize the rotation angle and the direction of reading.