

Q30. Computer font is an element in the user interface. Which of the following is the most appropriate explanation concerning the font?

- a) A set of characters to be displayed on a computer
- b) A set of glyphs and associated information such as code points
- c) A set of letters used by a computer as an interface to users
- d) A visual representation of generic elements generated from a script